

7
THE
FREE - CITIZENS
ADDRESS
TO

Sir SAMUEL COOKE, Bart.

FOR HIS

Unshaken Attachment to the True Interest of IRELAND this Session of Parliament.

WITH

CONSIDERATIONS on the Opposition given that Illustrious Senator by those very Men, who would now glory in giving him Testimonies of their Gratitude, for his glorious Contempt of Venality and C--t Influence.

To which is Added,

Thirty Two Original, and Occasional Patriot TOASTS; or, a Munster-Pill to the Ul--f--t--r Toasts, drank at the Plum of Feathers in Castle-street, and publish'd in Sir Tady's Journal Tuesday 5th, 1744.

AND AN

EXPRESS from PARNASSUS; or, the History of the CRISIS in One Hundred and Seventeen Poetical Panegyricks, sacred to the Infamy of the Enemies of
I---D.

*All ye who for a Place or Title push,
Or sell your Country, read your Names and blush.*

L O N D O N:

Printed at the Sign of Madam Ragg, beasting Sir Tady with a Buck's Horn, M DCC LIV.

A N

ADDRESS, &c.

S I R,

YOUR laudable and magnanimous Behaviour in Parliament this Session, has gain'd you that Honour and popular Applause, which all Deliverers of their Country so eminently merit.

THO' your Station as a Gentleman and a Man of Fortune, placed you above the Influence of Court Corruption, and State Bribery; yet nothing but the purest Spirit of Patriotism could withstand the indefatigable Sollicitations, and venal Proposals, made use of by the Enemies of I-r--d to subjugate her Patriots, and make them resign the most essential Privilege of the Commons of Ireland.

You have not been more happy, Sir, in your successful Endeavours to serve your Country, than in a Greatness of Heart and Mind, which enabled you to look down with Contempt on the Arrogance of C--r--t Minions, so infamously remarkable for an ungovernable Grasp at inordinate Power.

THAT Breath of Royal Displeasure, which has been wasted over to displace our illustrious Patriots, is the natural Effects of those Misrepresentations, which this K-g-m has unhappily labour'd under, in the A--n of every G--r, who had no other Method to justify his Conduct, than by misrepresenting those whom he was sent to preside over; and to imagine that his M--j--y would displace four of his best Subjects, for defending the Constitution of their Country, is as absurd, as to believe, that Loyalty is a Crime, and Patriotism a Disgrace.

A 2

WE

WE are reluctantly constrain'd to inform you, Sir, that the L—P— is the Source of all our Calamities: His close Connexion, potent Interest, and Influence upon those who were ready to misrepresent us abroad, and those who were equally disposed to betray us at home, brought us to the very Verge of Ruin, which would be inevitable, were it not for the Magnanimity and Resolution of our Patriots in Parliament. °

THE Ambition and Tyranny of the Clergy have had dire Effects in most Countries in Europe, and that a Man, who had such large Appointments peculiar to his Place, should endeavour to ruin a Country to be the ruling Moses of the Land, proves, that when Power was invested in him, his Endeavours would be indefatigable to mold this Constitution to his own private Interest, and square it to the Advantage of his Friends and Creators.

THE ill-designing Insinuations propagated abroad by the ENEMIES OF IRELAND, are as ridiculous, as false: And when they endeavour to justify their Conduct by bespattering the Patriots of the Nation, the native Corruption of their Hearts, appears still more apparent, rendering them obnoxious to the most popular Contempt.

WHEN they say the Patriots of this Kingdom oppos'd a purchas'd C—r—t Faction, thro' Ambition and Self-Interest, they should be ask'd, whether did C—rs or Patriots get most Places, Pensions, &c. by the late Scheme plan'd for the Destruction of the most valuable Branch of our Liberties. When they say the Patriots of Ireland alienated the Affections of his M—j—y's Subjects, they place themselves in the Person of the K—g; for the Affections of the People, tho' they are intirely alienated from the Betrayers of their Country, yet they are as warm as ever in his M—j—y's Interest, and the Support of his sacred Person, Royal Family and Government. No Man we hope, is so stupid as to imagine, that any Patriot could expect Interest or Promotion under an unjust A—n for defending the Liberties of his Country; and if the Patriots of Great-Britain were to be disaffected to his M—j—y, whenever they oppos'd the Measures of the C—r—t, his Interest would be on a dangerous precarious Footing.

THOSE who have the Esteem of the Public, can support his M—j—y's Interest better than those who are the public.

public Scorn of the Nation ; and shou'd his Majesty (Heaven avert it!) rely upon the Power and Interest of C—r's, Weakness and Inability would prove the natural Effects of their Corruption and Venality, when Power and unshaken Loyalty to their King and Country, would be victoriously displayed on the Patriot Standards of the Nation.

HAD this Kingdom at any Time since the happy Accession of his M—j—y's illustrious Family to the Throne, betrayed the least Disloyalty or Defection, or if the Patriots at any Time refused Supplies, or the necessary Exigencies of Government, the late Invasion upon the Privilege of the Commons of I—d might in some Measure be justifiable.

WE request, Sir, you'll accept our sincerest Acknowledgments for your Conduct in Parliament this Session, which makes us reflect with Concern on the Opposition some of us gave you upon your Election. This evidently shews, Sir, that, tho' Men are fond of chusing for themselves, God knows, and considers better what tends to our real Advantage, than we do ourselves.

BUT if ever you have Occasion for our future Suffrages, your Patriotism, shall^o meet with a suitable Reward ; for tho' we may complain of Injuries from the Board of Aldermen, we shall ever have the highest Veneration and Esteem for Sir Samuel Cooke.

BEFORE we close this Address, we can't avoid taking publick Notice of the Infidelity of him, who was thrust into the Senate by Interest, and an undue Election. His Conduct in Parliament shews, that his Virtue, if ever he had any, was to be purchas'd at a small Price, and we are sorry (since his Circumstances are so desperate) that he put himself to the Expence of acting the Hypocrite in his Magist—r—l Reign, when he intended to bring his influenc'd Electors to a parliamentary Market. Should he ever have the Effrontory to request our Suffrages to betray us again in P—t, and thereby augment his Pension, he shall meet with that popular Contempt, his Venality so justly merits.

(6)

PERMIT us, Sir, to return our grateful Thanks to the Right Honourable the Earl of Kildare, the Right Honourable Henry Boyle, the Right Honourable Thomas Carter, Anthony Malone, Michael O'Brien Dilks, and Bellingham Boyle, Esqrs. for their impregnable Spirit of Patriotism this Session of Parliament. And may the Speaker of the House of Commons leave the Constitution of Ireland as he found it, and may all succeeding Speakers follow his Example, and share an equal Glory.

OUR Gratitude, Sir, to the illustrious Gores, Hassets, Crosbies and Malones, should not be omitted, whose Memory with the rest of the noble Patriots of this Kingdom, shall be dear to Ireland, to the latest Posterity. We therefore take Leave to conclude,

S I R,

Your most humble, obedient, grateful,

and devoted Servants,

The FREE-CITIZENS, &c.

Thirty

Thirty Two Occasional Patriot TOASTS; or a Munster Pill to the Ulster Toasts, drank at the Plume of Feathers in Castle-street, Saturday the 26th of this Inst. February, and publish'd in Sir Tady's Journal, Tuesday 5th, 1754.

- 1 SHAME and Disgrace to all those C—rs that distinguished themselves Enemies to I—r—d by voting for the M—ey B—ll the 17th of December last.
- 2 Shame and Disappointment to all false C—rs who sold their Country for Places and Pensions, so honourably despised by the Patriots of I—r—d, who were so far from improving their Fortunes at the Expence of the Liberties of their Country, that four of them have been dismissed his Majesty's, but not their Country's Service.
- 3 Reformation and good Manners to the Hypocrites who stand in most need of them.
- 4 May they disgorge their Bribes, and follow the Example of their Betters, the Patriots of I—d.
- 5 Liberty to I—d, and no Bribes, Places, Pensions, Offices, Concorda—um M—ey or any such Wages of Sin to N—rth—n C—rs.
- 6 May the C—rt P—r—y never have a Majority in P—t.
- 7 May Venality and Corruption be written in every C—r's Forehead, who betrayed his Country the 17th of December.
- 8 May the Patriots of I—r—d be ever envy'd by the Catterpillars of a venal C—t.
- 9 May the Corruption of C—rs never have the Benefit of Disguise.
- 10 May all C—rs meet with popular Contempt, and all Patriots popular Glory.
- 11 May those C—rs who have no other Method to apologize for selling the Liberty of their Country, but by abusing the Patriots of the Nation, live to repent, and lay their Bribes where they found them.
- 12 May every C—r—ier who betrayed the Interest of his Country this Session, declare in Sir Tady's Journal, that private Ambition, Self-Interest, Places and Pensions, were the true Motives they had for betraying their Country.

13 May

- 13 May the Electors of I—d never vote a false Courtier into the House of C—ns again.
- 14 May his M—j—y never think, that those Men can be true to his Interest, who for a Place, Bribe, or Pension betray their Country.
- 15 Disappointment to all those anticonstitutional Schemist, who endeavoured to make his M—j—y believe, that the Patriots of I—d have alienated the Affections of his Subjects from his sacred Person, Royal Family and Interest, when in Reality they have only withdrawn the Esteem of the Public from the Enemies of the I—b Constitution.
- 16 May his M—j—y never be under a Necessity of reposing Confidence in Judaic C—rs.
- 17 May all those who would go into the Backside of a M—ni—r for a Pension or a Place never be esteemed by the People of I—d.
- 18 May his M—j—y retrieve the Honour and Dignity of his Gov—nt, by sending a Chesterfield to govern a Free People, with wonted Impartiality, Justice, Wisdom and Integrity.
- 19 May we never have a G—r who can undertake an ungenerous Jobb for the E—b M—n—ry, imbroil the Nation, and set Father against Son, and Son against Father.
- 20 May all those who envy the Patriots of I—d that popular Applause they justly merit, meet with a Theatrical Groan, and Constitutional Hiss.
- 21 May every C—r—ier who betrayed his Country the 17th of December, get no more Money, Places, &c. than the Patriots of I—d did for the Services they have done their Country.
- 22 May the Kingdom of I—d never suffer by the Venality of Cour—rs, and Bestiality of H--- P---ts.
- 23 May the old Protestant Interest of I—d ever defeat old, or new Favourites, and venal M—mb—rs.
- 24 May all those who would willingly divest the C—ns of I—d of the Application of the Residue of the Money in the Tr—u—y, never finger a Penny of the National Wealth.
- 25 May all those who would sell their Birth-right, never have a Vote in the House again.

- 26 No Power, no Vigour, no Spirits, no Places, no Pensions, no Offices, no Concorda—um Money to false Whigs, and Enemies to their Country.
- 27 May the illustrious House of Hanover always have better and more faithful Supporters, than Mock-Whigs, who'd worship an Enemy to their Country.
- 28 May forty C—urt Placemen, never have a Seat in the H—e of C—ns again.
- 29 May the Placemen of Ir—d prove a shining Rebuke to all corrupt C—rs.
- 30 May the Patriots of I—d who supported his Majesty's Interest and Government in the worst of Times without any sinister Views, have the Glory of Seeing the Enemies to their Country in Disgrace, and if they are not disgraced, may the H—P—t canonize them for their Designs against the Liberties of a Free Loyal People.
- 31 Moll Walker and a Priapism to the Enemies of I—d, who inveigh against as noble Patriots as ever Rome could boast of.
- 32 An Universal Groan to the Mock-Whigs, oh!— oh!— oh!— oh!— To which we all Consent. Oh! oh!—

Q U E R I E S.

Where's the C—r—ier who would lose £ 800 per Annum sooner than vote against his Country?

Who offered to raise a Regiment of Horse at his own Expence for his Majesty in the late Rebellion?

The Earl of Kildare did.

Who carry'd on his Majesty's Business in P—t these twenty Years past to the Interest and Honour of both Kingdoms? The Speaker did.

A Groan for the Ulf—r Toasts. Oh— oh!— oh!—

An EXPRESS from PARNASSUS; or the History of the CRISIS, in One Hundred and Seventeen Poetical Panegyricks, most humbly Inscrib'd to the Enemies of Ire--d.

*All ye who for a Place or Title push,
Or sell your Country, read your Names and blush.*

- WHEN Dagon proves a Mn --r of State,
Endow'd with Qualities divinely great,
When he, nor will, nor Inclination shews,
To favour Jobbs, or fill our Isle with Woes,
When he deserves the Title of his G—
Nor to enslave Ierne grants a Place,
When he betrays no sordid venal Views,
Nor false Reports to Royal Ears infuse.
- L P When Caiphas is an Honour to his Station,
And not the publick Scorn of the Nation,
When he's no Scandal to his sacred Order,
Nor Patron to a villainous R—c—r.
When this young Tyrant gains a second Vote;
1 For cramming Edicts down the Nation's Throat,
When he escapes the Censures of the Pen,
Beloved of God, or once esteem'd by Men,
When bestial Crimes transmit his hated Name,
To future Ages with unfully'd Fame,
When he no Curses from the Nation draws,
For vile Attempts to subjugate our Laws.
- R M When Bob's no Pander to a wicked Crew,
2 Who strove our Country's Int'rest to undo,
When he's more upright than his cozz'ning Sire,
Loaded with Orphans Cries, and Widows Ire.
- J P When John pursues with pleasing Resolution,
3 Old Tyrant Schemes to wound our Constitution.
- W B When Will in Pension keeps no stately Frows,
4 Nor sells his Voice to buy * Mc Donough's Cloaths.

J B

* A Taylor in Plunket-street, famous for second-hand Lace
Cloaths:

- J B When hideous Jack's by innate Virtues great,
 5 And no Grim Tyrant on his own Estate.
 R P When Dick's a sober, tame, religious Youth,
 6 Endow'd with Virtue, Innocence and Truth.
 W F When he has Law, Humanity or Brains,
 7 Or from his Crest can raze ignoble Stains.
 P T When Phill's no Courtier for his private Ends,
 8 Nor treats his Country, as he does his Friends.
 P B When spurious Phil, declines vast Pelf to hoard,
 9 To bribe his Madam, and enrich his Lord.
 A D When this curs'd Caitiff's waisted to Fenister,
 10 By Gales as honourable, as Sinister.
 R Bn When stupid Bob's an Honour to his Name,
 11 Or dies regreted for his Worth, or Fame.
 R J When Bob with Virtue shuns corrupt Court-Fac-
 12 Nor joins to sap the Int'rest of the Nation. (tion,
 R B-r When this proud Bashaw fills no courtly Place,
 13 Nor lives on servile Worship paid his G—.
 D B When this poor Elf, accepts no venal Bribe,
 14 To join a cursed ill-designing Tribe.
 J O B When he despises wealth and worldly Station,
 15 To join K-l-d-e, and save a sinking Nation.
 A J When this Centurion lays aside his Sword,
 16 And gives to Liberty his Voice and word.
 R T When Dicky's fam'd for Virtue or Perfection,
 17 Nor sells his Country for a poor Collection.
 J T When Jack the Vizer claims our just Applause,
 18 For joining Liberty, and dying Laws.
 A H When he obeys fair Liberty, her Summons,
 19 Or's dubb'd the Sp-k-r of the H-e of Com--ns.
 E B When he supports his Country in Declension,
 20 And bravely spurns a courtly Place, or Pension.
 S C B When this sell Judas who lerne sold,
 21 For dear-bought Pictures, set in ductile Gold,
 Supports his former Int'rest, or Connexion,
 Or gains six Votes, upon a Re-election.
 B M When this poor Stoic his Brother's wisdom shares,
 22 Or dissipates his bleeding Country's Cares.
 J B When Jack resigns a Pension or a Place,
 23 And disobeys the Edicts of his G—.
 B B When he can lend his Int'rest or his Hand,
 24 T' avert th' Oppression of a guiltless Land.

- R F O treacherous Bob, O say how could you Share,
 25 The Guilt of th' Enemies to fam'd K--l--d--e ?
SW F When Billy disobey's old Præstoe's Rules,
 26 Nor joins Corruption, nor corrupted Tools.
J G When Jack has Honour, or a generous Heart,
 27 Or bravely takes a bleeding Country's Part,
L G When he prefers his Country to a Bridge,
 28 Nor Charley's Modicum retract nor grudge.
B W When he supports th' Extension of our Laws,
 29 And proves a Friend to fam'd Eutopia's Cause.
A N When he can boast a merited Ascention,
 30 Nor meanly votes to gain a courtly Pension.
A M When he deserts the foulest Jobb begun,
 31 Nor proves in Principles, his Father's Son.
T T When Tom's Harangues do not point out a Knave,
 32 Who'd lend his Voice, his Country to enslave.
T B When he who's sent with conquering Arms to 33 Betrays no Trust, ingloriously at home. (roam,
R C-h When he nor lives, nor rises on his A--r--e,
 34 The Tool of Party, and a Butt to Farce,
 When he his priestly Creator beguiles,
 Or quits this Stage with any Pains but Piles.
O W When he declares in public, he would rather,
 35 Preserve his Country, than obey his Father.
J W When Jack can keep his Honour, or his word,
 36 And in Defence of Justice, draws his Sword.
R M When peevish Bob respects his Country more,
 37 Than th' outward Figure, of a jilting Wh--re.
S T P When traiterous Tom's in native Goodness great,
 38 And lives not on another Man's Estate.
R H When Robert lives above constituent Censure,
 39 Nor sells his Country for a poor Debenture.
G L When e'er we see, no Jew in George's Face,
 40 Who'd go to Hell to monkify his G--.
H L When wealthy Villains vote for dangerous Bills,
 41 And yet deserve no Lash from Patriot-quills.
W H When servile Watt has no deprav'd Vocation,
 42 To sell or subjugate an injur'd Nation.
H S When this busy factious pidling Mole,
 43 Raises no Court-Dust round his VENAL HOLE.
J S When Jemmy sleeps in Peace, or when he dies,
 44 Is usher'd to the Grave by Orphan's Cries.

- J M When John can boast his Honesty or Fame,
 45 Or dips again into a Southsea Scheme.
 E S When Hypocrites shall be rever'd again,
 46 Who'd sell their Country for poor sordid Gain.
 H S When hungry Puppies will decline Pretention,
 47 To courtly Favours, and a graceless Pension.
 W M When Will regrets to see his Country pine,
 48 And swears he'll ev'ry courtly Gift resign.
 A U When sordid Souls lament with bleeding Heart,
 49 The Nation's wounds, and not augment her Smart.
 S C D When he his Country sells, thro' special Choice,
 50 Or lives by Purchase of a venal Voice.
 N C When Natt with Inclination joins the cursed Throng
 51 That basely voted in their Country's wrong.
 J F When Jack has Parts, or any Powers to please,
 52 Nor meanly pamper'd in inglorious Ease.
 W A When Billy shares no Pannick with my Lord,
 53 Nor joins Oppression of his own Accord.
 J L When Turkish Beaux, nor Stink, nor Smell of 54 And shew an Head not destitute of Brains. (Grains,
 R S When pedling Members can refuse their Voice,
 55 To make the Nation's Enemies rejoice.
 M F When Matty gains Preferment, or Applause,
 56 By joining Patriots in his Country's Cause.
 C B P When he ignores his Uncle's sordid Scheme,
 57 Protects his Country and preserves his Fame.
 F L When Frank no smells, nor thinks of fætid Lees,
 58 Nor sells his Voice for courtly Smiles or Fees.
 J G When Jack nor sells his Voice, nor lends his Hand
 59 To spoil, betray, or subjugate the Land.
 J S When Jemmy's Head's as rotten as his Heart,
 60 And for his Country acts one gen'rous Part.
 C D When Charley's a good Protestant or Friend,
 61 And proud his Country's Freedom to defend.
 R F When Bob has Patriot worth, or Power to save 62 His Memory from rotting in the Grave.
 T S When Tom declines to kneel at Interest's Shrine,
 63 Or proves Ierne's Advocate benign.
 R B When boisterous, loud, profane, terrify Bob
 64 Is first in Goodness, or the last in Jobb.
 H B When Harry shares the Glories of his Name,
 65 And proves no Blush to antient Patriot Fame.

- M K When thou O Dupe to ev'ry common whore,
 66 Art a good Husband, Father to the Poor.
 F B When Tom's respected off his own Estate,
 67 By God or Nature destin'd to the Great.
 W E M When Billy's honour'd for his Parts or Wealth,
 68 Or hears a Porter drink his Worship's Health.
 H M When he averts his injur'd Country's Wrongs,
 69 Or can expect the Praise of Patriot Tongues.
 I A When Jemmy gives a plentiful good Dinner,
 70 Or one sheer Glas, ev'n to a Brother Sinner.
 Bn Bn When Ben can vote without old Nick's Advice,
 71 Or be contented, Nature to suffice.
 S L P When Lory shares no Guilt of his Grand Sire.
 72 Or has a Breast replete with Patriot Fire.
 H L When Harry's Virtue spurns base Prostitution,
 73 And Stands unshaken for the Constitution.
 W S When Billy scorns to sheer his Country's Sheep,
 74 Nor gives a Vote to make Ierne weep.
 E E When he's less hated than the fable Tribe,
 75 Who never conquer, but by Place or Bribe.
 C S When Charley sees no Duns dejected Faces,
 76 Nor bilks them while he cringes to their Graces.
 R M When Dicky keeps one Virtue in his Breast,
 77 Nor steals from better Men a staring Crest.
 P O When he loves Roger, or his Country's Cause,
 78 Or once protects an injur'd Nation's Laws.
 H L R When he, one social Virtue under Heav'n
 79 Betrays, that yet to human Kind were given.
 R I When Dicky, Wisdom, Parts, or Knowledge shews
 80 Or feels with bleeding Heart, his Country's Woes.
 H B m When Harry loves his Country or his Friend,
 81 Or dips in Jobbs without some secret End.
 W H F When Billy scorns to make his Country bleed,
 82 To please a cursed lordly, priestly Breed.
 T F When Tom can give the Court a just Denial,
 83 When Virtue's put to the severest Trial.
 A F When Tony votes for Wolsey or his G—— 4
 84 And squints not at some profitable Place.
 J B When Jack's less various than the Weather-cock,
 85 And less deprav'd than his corrupted Stock.
 N P When Natt's a Patriot, or despises Pelf,
 86 Neglects his Acres, or his own dear Self.

J P when

- J P When Jack's lamented by a single Neighbour,
 87 For dying of a conscientious Fever.
 S T T When Booby Tom, can prove that it's no queer Age
 88 When Bullock-driver's voting for a Peerage.
 T T When pinch Gut Tom, an Uferer at the College
 89 Can shew the least Criterion of Knowledge.
 When he a gen'rous Heart, or Spirit shews,
 Nor docks his Taylor's Bill, for pageant Cloaths.
 G E When George declines his Worship to his G——
 90 Or votes till first insur'd of a good Place.
 W W When treacherous Billy quits this mortal Stage,
 91 With the good Conscience of a Well spent Age.
 J B When his gray Hairs, his Reputation save,
 92 Or send him honourably to the Grave.
 O W When he's belov'd at home, no Tool at Court,
 93 Where such base Harpies in vast Crouds resort.
 S M When Honour, Conscience or the good old Cause
 94 Gain this Block-head Popular Applause.
 W S When Heart and Mind both gloriously conspire,
 95 To fill thy fordid Breast with Patriot Fire.
 W R When he is able to avoid Temptation,
 96 Or gives his Vote to Roger and the Nation.
 S B When Sam rejects a Bribe, and when it's giv'n,
 97 Protects him from a just avenging Heav'n.
 J L When he the Lees of all the Party can,
 98 In justice claim Respect of God or Man.
 J S When Jemmy has no Views, and when they tend,
 99 But to promote his Country, and his Friend.
 W T When Billy votes to save an injur'd Land,
 100 Or to the Helpless stretches forth his Hand.
 A B When Tony votes for salutary Laws,
 101 Or merits his Constituents Applause.
 R C W When Dicky's Proof against a courtly Bait,
 102 Or feeds the Hungry at his rural Seat.
 J S When Hen-peck'd Jack's an hospitable Squire,
 103 Or has one Quality for Man t'admire.
 C U When Charley pays no Homage to the Court,
 104 Nor joins in Faction for politic Sport.
 R P When Bab's belov'd by either Rich or Poor,
 105 Polite, or humble, no confirm'd Boor.
 T L When Tom's no Cat's Paw to his pious G——
 106 Nor whispers Caiphas for an easy Place.
 W R when

- W R When Billy can his rotten Conscience cure,
 107 Not votes for Dagon when he sets his Lure. X
 W B When Billy gains without a Priest's Connexion,
 108 An honourable, or a fair Election. X
 G H When George assists his Country in Distress,
 109 Or shews one Principle of Tenderness.
 S R W When haughty Richard is no courtly Slave,
 110 Who'll go for Mammon, a Martyr to the Grave.
 111 When Nick has Virtue, Will, or Inclination,
 To quit the Court, and Patronize the Nation.
 C P When Cromwell shews his Virtue has no Price,
 112 And proves his Conscience delicately nice.
 R T When Dick is honour'd by the Good, and Great,
 113 For being no Tool to Ministers of State.
 U S G When the Son's Virtues have a Right to smother
 114 The Prostitution of a vicious Mother.
 S B When gothic Sam declines letigious Suits,
 115 Or's even belov'd by his domestic Brutes.
 R G When Dick has Justice in his Head or Heart,
 116 And shuns all Schemes to make his Country smart.
 R R When Bob's the worst of th' ald--m--ick Tribe,
 117 And yet too good to take a courtly Bribe.
 E S P When Perry Pett ever recommends
 Himself, except to Dagon and his Friends. X
 When he's a Judge, and not a Tool of State,
 The Nation's Scorn, and universal Hate.
 Then shall I cease, let me to deplore,
 And think of Chains and Slavery no more.

• For a Key, see the black List, published in Eutopia after the Crisis.

N. B. The Toasts and the Express, &c. are not by the Author of the Address.

F I N I S.